FOREIGNERS SENDING OUT CALL FOR AID FROM URGA

Desperate Situation Is Reported By One Man Permitted To Go

SHELLS FALLING

Believed Town Is About To Fall Into Hands Of Beseigers

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, November 11.—Foreigners trapped in Urga, which is about to fall to a beseiging force of Russians are in peril of their lives and have sent to Peking an urgent call for the despatch of an armed American rescue party. This is the latest word brought from the Mongolian capital by Mr. Hansen, a representative of Andersen, Meyer and Co. who has completed the trip over the Gobi desert from Urga.

Mr. Hansen brought also the request to the American Legation that the Chinese High Commissioner be asked to issue orders to protect the interests of foreigners and to arrange for their departure.

The traveler from Urga was also commissioned to inform all the foreign legations at Peking concerning the miserable situation in which Russian residents of the town are placed. These are being terrorised by Chinese troops. The report is that the acting Amban is holding Russians as well as the Mongolian Buddha as hostages while many have been imprisoned and have been stripped of their clothing with freezing weather at hand. No provision is being made to care for many starving.

THREATEN RUSSIANS

It is reported that the Chinese holding Urga have openly made the threat to kill every Russian in the city in the event that the Chinese forces are driven out. At the time Mr. Hansen was permitted to depart the Chinese were looting on all sides with the full knowledge of the local authorities.

Mr. Hansen was the third permitted to leave Urga and the privilege was granted only after he had been stripped of his private arms and agreed also to take out with him the family of a Chinese officer, which he did.

He said the seige has been in progress for ten days with shells from the beseiging force falling in the city. The number at attacking troops is said to be about two thousand made up of Russians, Mongols, Buriats and others thought to be Japanese under the command of Baron Ungern. It is not certain that Japanese are among the attacking forces as they may be Buriats in Japanese uniforms. The belief that the city may soon fall is based on the fact that the Chinese defenders are disorganised and inefficient and if this happens it is recognised that foreigners in the city will be in the gravest peril.

FATE OF MR. MILLS

Word concerning Mr. Mills concerning whose safety some concern was felt is to the effect that the Chinese offered to permit him to depart. He refused when he was told he could not take with him a Russian friend who is seriously ill, but no Russian resident, it is stated, will be permitted to leave under any circumstances.

An Anglo-American armed party of twelve accompanied by Major McGruder, assistant American Military Attache of the American Legation at Peking and Major Bogan of the American Legation Guards set out on November 8 to cross the desert to Urga. It is not thought this force is large enough to accomplish results although it is believed the Chinese will not openly hinder their progress.

EFFORT TO FREE WELCH OF DEATH CHARGE LOSES

Trial Which Began Yesterday In U.S. Court Will Be Resumed Today

Judge Charles S. Lobingier of the United States Court for China refused yesterday to dismiss a charge of murder against Jack Leo Welch, second engineer of the U. S. Shipping Board steamer West Henshaw, who was held following the shooting of Liang Wong-wu, a Chinese girl in a brothel at 207 Fearon Road early Sunday.

The trial opened in the American Court yesterday afternoon and the effort to have the charge dismissed was launched by Mr. Paul M. Linebarger, counsel for the accused, after the prosecution had concluded its case. Maj. C. P. Holcomb, United States District Attorney, is conducting the prosecution and when the hearing was adjourned at half past six yesterday it was announced that it would be resumed this morning.

CASE IS REVIEWED

Much of the ground that was covered at the inquest was gone over again yesterday by the witnesses called by the government. These included Chief Inspector P. W. Reeves and Inspector McKenzie of the Hongkew Station, J. S. Leiber and Maniken Bartt, Welch's companions on the night of the tragedy and his shipmates, and five Chinese inmates of the house where the girl was shot.

The contention offered by Mr. Linebarger in asking for his client's dismissal was that the prosecution had failed to prove that Welch had murdered the girl and he held that what had happened had been an accident. In presenting the motion he urged strongly that Welch had been justified in carrying a weapon and asserted that as he was a ship's officer and a traveler passing through Shanghai he was violating no law in going armed.

MOTION OVERRULED

In connection with his motion for dismissal Mr. Linebarger also called upon Major Holcomb to enter a nolle presequi in the case. Before Major Holcomb made his reply, in which he declined to withdraw the charge, Judge Lobingier pointed out that though the charge was one of murder, still the defendant might be held on any lesser charge, even that of involuntary manslaughter. Subsequently he overruled the motion so when the hearing is resumed today Welch will be called on to explain how the shooting occurred in his own defense.

One point in the defendant's favor brought out early in the hearing yesterday was in the testimony of Inspector Reeves who said the prisoner had told him shortly after the arrest was made that the shooting had been accidental. Support was given to this in some measure by the testimony of one of the Chinese girls of the house who said Welch had told her to call a doctor and notify the police, afterwards giving her the revolver with which the shooting had been done.

ARNOLD WINS FIRST PRIZE IN CHAMPIONS

DIDN'T KNOW VICTORY

Congratulated Winning Rider Without Realising His Own Good Fortune

"To him that hath," etc.

Or, "To have and to Arnhold."

Either of these might apply in the case of the winner of the 1920 Championship Sweepstake, valued at $167,294.40, who turned up yesterday in the person of Mr. J. Arnold, manager of the export department of Arnhold Brothers and Company.

Mr. Arnold, who is a native of Switzerland and not in any way related to the name-members of the firm with which he is connected, heads the division of Arnhold Brothers and Company in which is employed one William Hill, first-water gentleman rider and all-round good fellow, who piloted "The Hawk" to victory in the race which resulted so fortuitously to his "boss."

From all that can be ascertained, Mr. Arnold had no idea of his good luck when he clapped "Billy" Hill on the back, following the latter's victory in "The Champions," and congratulated the rider on his splendid victory in the classic.

"MIDDLE NUMBER" WINS

Just before the race began Mr. Arnold is reported to have turned to a friend in the Race Club's grandstand, as the Sweepstakes numbers were posted opposite the names of the qualified ponies, and to have remarked sententiously:

"Well, they are writing a few of those numbers in star-dust and a whole heap more in tears!"

He is then reported to have turned his entire attention to the race itself, apparently forgetful of the fact that he held three tickets on the big sweep, purchased a few days before.

Indeed, there is no indication that Mr. Arnold had any inkling of his remarkable good fortune until he reached his home, long after the big race had passed into history, and suddenly bethought himself of the tickets he had purchased "just as a matter of form."

STAR DUST AND TEARS

What he said or did immediately after examining those precious bits of blue paper—'twas the middle number of three, report says, that brought him the prize—is not down on the record. Indeed, Mr. Arnold has not yet publicly declared himself regarding the mixed emotions with which he must have gazed upon those magic numbers—"2-0-8-6-3."

As a matter of straight, hard fact, Mr. Arnold was "Engaged" when the representative of THE CHINA PRESS called to collate his opinions on race-meets, sweepstakes, smiles of fortune, the high cost of living, the possibility of his accepting the Presidency of Switzerland, and other items of the kind.

It was explained to the newspaper representative that Mr. Arnold was not exactly "dodging" him, but that he really had "a tremendous amount of accumulated correspondence which demanded his immediate and undivided attention." Mr. Arnold was sorry, it seems, that circumstances prohibited an extended interview regarding the fine art of purchasing bits of blue paper at $10 each and cashing them for $167,294.40—but the hard fact remained.

THE CHINA PRESS representative caught a glimpse of the sweepstakes winner, gambolling gaily (the representative imagined) from one dictaphone to another—a tall, well-proportioned man in middle age, whose hirsute adornment was conspicuous by its absence; but otherwise not especially to be remarked, had he

Reelers And Merchants Meet To Form Plan For Market Control

NOT TO SELL FORWARD

Yokohama Business Men Agree To Aid Producers In Keeping Up Price

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, November 10.—At a meeting between silk-reelers from all parts of the country and Yokohama silk merchants at Tokio today, it was unanimously resolved to suspend silk reeling from November 30 to February 15 in order to stabilise the raw silk market.

The reelers at Nagano will suspend work until March 20. If the Imperial Silk Company by January 31 request an extension of this period, this will be done.

The reelers will not sell forward on exchange and Yokohama wholesale merchants will not accept the goods.

Yokohama wholesale merchants and exporters will not handle silk from the reelers in violation of this decision, for the enforcement of which committees will be appointed in every prefecture.

Vladivostok Calls For New Parliament As Temporary Act

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, November 10.—The Vladivostok delegates have laid down the following cardinal conditions for the joining up of Far Eastern Russia:

(1) The election of a temporary Parliament, consisting of representatives of all districts.

(2) This temporary Parliament shall work effectively with temporary Government until the convocation of a National Assembly.

Liquor Seized In U.S. To Be Released

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 9.—The Supreme Court has found for the plaintiff in the case of William G. Street vs. the Lincoln Safe Deposit Company, of New York. Under this decision the owners of liquors lawfully acquired and stored for their own use in places other than their homes may remove the same.

New York, Nov. 10.—The decision of the Supreme Court on the Street case has filled innumerable Americans with delight. This particularly applies to clubmen, who assert that they are specially favored by the new ruling, as men who use clubs as their homes will probably now be allowed to keep supplies of drinks in these clubs.

It is estimated that 10,000,000 gallons of liquor now lying in warehouses will be released, while large quantities which have been seized by government agents will be returned to their owners.

Domestic Loan Is Figured For Famine

Peking, Nov. 11.—Failing to receive a favorable answer from the foreign banks, the Government proposes to launch a domestic loan of $4,000,000 secured on the surtaxes in aid of famine relief.

Greenwood Is Aquitted Of Murder Of His Wife

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—One of the most sensational murder trials of recent years ended at Carmathen today when a solicitor, Harold Greenwood, was acquitted on a charge of poisoning his first wife, Mabel, who died on June 16 last year.

The body was exhumed on instructions from the Home Office on April 10, after which Greenwood, who had married Miss Gladys Jones three month's after the death of his first wife, was arrested on June 16, following on a verdict of murder at the inquest.

Sir Marly Samson, prosecuting for the Crown, emphasised that Greenwood had bought gallons of weed-killer in Scotland, containing arsenic, which, it was alleged, Greenwood mixed with wine, which his wife drank. Arsenic was found in the body after death.

Sir Marshal Hall, defending, suggested, that death was due to a doctor by mistake giving the woman two half-grain morphia pills and the presence of arsenic in the body was due to gluclose in manufactured foods. An important witness for the defense, Greenwood's daughter, gave evidence that she drank two glasses of the same wine as her mother.

Local Musical Artists Aid Relief Of Famine

The excellent arrangements made by the Y.M.C.A. and a special committee resulted in a most successful concert in the Olympic Theater last night, in aid of the Famine Relief Fund. A large audience of Chinese and foreigners enjoyed a varied and popular program supplied by a number of Shanghai artists of established reputation.

Miss Myra B. Olive besides singing groups of solos was joined by Mrs. Frederick Tillson in duets from "Madame Butterfly" and "Lakme." Miss Olive's vocalisation is admirable and Mrs. Frederick Tillson, late of the Chicago opera is a brilliant contralto. In Liszt's 8th Hungarian Rhapsody, and Glinka's "Komarinskaya" (arranged by Balakireff) Mr. Harry Ore gave examples of his brilliant pianistic powers. Liszt's "La Campanella" was played as an encore. Mr. Siroido delighted the audience with Vieniavsky's "Souvenir de Moscow," "Romance" (by Gliere) and a "Perpetuum mobile" (Novacek). He had to respond to recalls. Mr. Brunelli appeared in Don Jose's aria from "Carmen" with great success. A distinct feature of the evening was the broad treatment of Mr. Selivanoff the well-known operatic basso cantante in arias from Verdi and Borodin's "Prince I gor." Mr. R. C. Treman supplied light relief with some ballads that were well received.

Mr. C. T. Wang in thanking the various firms and officials who by their generosity and help contributed to the success of the concert, made an eloquent appeal for help to be sent to the stricken provinces. He pointed out the government's responsibility as to irrigation, and the necessity for better means of transportation of foodstuffs from the more favored areas; but insisted that the present situation was causing suffering impossible for residents here to realise and that all should do their best to help in its relief.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES ONS ECOND ANNIVERSARY OF ARMISTICE'S SIGNING

French Slain Rest In Special Chapel On Historic Ground

Paris, Nov. 10.—In the ancient Galerie des Fetes of the Citadel of Verdun a mortuary chapel has been erected.

Here it was that President Poincare handed Marshal Petain his Marshal's baton, here that the Queen of Rumania wept over the unfortunate city, that the King of Spain and King Alexander of Greece drank to the glory of Verdun. And here have been placed eight coffins, each containing the remains of an unknown French soldier.

Each time that the body of one of these nameless heroes arrived at the chapel a captain presented arms, giving the command; "In the name of the 'unknown soldier' who will sleep his last sleep in eternal glory beneath the Arc de Triomphe; in the name of all those soldiers who lie on the field of battle, open."

Holy Trinity And St. Joseph's Crowded For Services; Memorials Unveiled; Dinner Dance Given

Beginning the day with impressive memorial services at Holy Trinity Cathedral and St. Joseph's Church Shanghai's Allied residents observed the second anniversary of the signing of the Armistice yesterday.

The Settlement streets were bright with the flags of the Allied nations and many hongs either closed entirely in consideration of the occasion or kept short business hours, most of them suspending business at 11 a.m.

The Cathedral, where the ceremony was under the auspices of the United Services Association, was the scene of an inspiring gathering of former fighting men and civilians, who crowded the building to its full capacity and even stood without the doors. There were in evidence uniforms of all branches of the British service—army, navy and air force men—and the bright bars of the service badges showed everywhere throughout the congregation. A detachment about fifty sailors from the British ships in port formed a part of the throng, marching to the church under Captains Walker and Rowe, Lieutenant-Commander Farquhar and Lieutenants Bertram and Caffin. British Consul-General Sir Everard Fraser, in uniform, occupied the Consular seat and the British flag was flown at half-mast over the pulpit.

REV. ROBBINS SPEAKS

Following a psalm and the lesson, read by the Rev. A. N. Rowland, there was a two-minute silence in memory of those fallen in the war and the address was then delivered by the Rev. W. Robbins, Chaplain of the United Services Association.

Bringing out the thought of the eternal justice of God and the need for a complete faith in His plan, the Rev. Robbins preached a sermon which though brief was very impressive. The text of his remarks will be found on the editorial page.

The service closed with the singing of "For All the Saints."

The services at St. Joseph's Church were held at 11 o'clock, the hour of the armistice's signing, and the celebrant of the solemn high mass was the Rev. Pere de Chalain, S. J. The discourse was by the Rev. Pere Henry, S. J., rector of Aurora University.

Absolution by the celebrant was given at the Catafalque after the mass, French soldiers forming a body-guard round the catafalque.

During the ceremony the organist played the "Marseillaise" and the "Dead March" from "Saul."

S. R. C. MEMORIAL UNVEILED

Another impressive feature in the day's program was the unveiling of the memorial tablet erected in the Shanghai Rowing Club to the memory of the twenty-two members who gave their lives in the war. The ceremony was conducted by Sir Everard Fraser, assisted by Mr. E. C. Pearce, Chairman of the Municipal Council and captain of the club in 1904, and Mr. Brodie A. Clarke, the club's oldest member, who first rowed for the organisation in 1866. Mr. J. J. Evans welcomed the officials in the absence of Mr. Brown, the club's captain.

In unveiling the tablet Sir Everard said it was very fitting that they should come there after the service at the Cathedral. It did not seem very long ago since critics who enjoyed weeding other people's gardens used to rebuke the British people for what they considered an undue popularity of sport. They seemed unable to perceive that among all the attractions of sport for British spectators the chief was the self-sacrificing combination for a common end and the giving of one's strength and ability to the utmost for the common cause. Then came the war. And it was curious to observe the surprise from many people when Britons showed precisely the same qualities as had been inculcated by their sports. But it was no surprise to members of the Rowing

AMERICAN NUNS ARE ON WAY TO HONAN MISSION

First Group From U.S. Made Up Of Six Chosen From 300 Applicants

The first group of American Sisters of Charity to come to China as missionaries arrived in [redacted] yesterday on the P.M.S. [redacted] Maru. They [redacted] the Order of [redacted] and are in charge of [redacted] St. Mary of the Woods, Indiana.

More than three hundred Sisters volunteered for mission work in the Orient when a request was made and plans for extensive work in Honan Province outlined. Out of the three hundred, these six were chosen.

GO TO HONAN

The Sisters will leave here shortly for Kaifeng City, Honan Province where they will found the first American Mission of this Order in China.

The new missionaries are Sister Marie Patricia, Sister Clare Patricia, Sister Winfred Patricia, Sister Marie Gratie, Sister Mary Elise and Sister Eugenia Marie.

The party includes also the Bishop of Honan, Rev. J. N. Tacconi; Rev. F. X. Clougherty of Pittsburg, the Rev. H. P. Lawton of Pittsburg and a seminarian, the Rev. Joseph Kerrin. They will accompany the Sisters to Kaifeng City where they will be stationed.

AT GENERAL HOSPITAL

During their stay in Shanghai, the Sisters are guests at the General Hospital and the priests of the Lazarist Mission.

Other well known men arriving on the Shinyo Maru are the Rev. J. B. de Guebriant, Bishop of Canton returning from Rome where he acted as the Apostolic delegate of all China, and the Rev. Abbe Verdier, Father Superior of the Kiangnan Mission.

SHIPPING BOARD GRAFT IS CHARGED BY CONGRESSMEN

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, November 9.—The House Committee appointed for investigation of the United States Shipping Board's activities has published a report charging corruption of employes and officers of the Fleet Corporation, graft in purchasing supplies and repairing ships and the exercise of political influence in obtaining contracts in all localities.

The report is presented by M. A. M. Fisher and M. J. F. Richardson former employes of the Board. Admiral Benson, its chairman, has thus far declined to commit himself regarding the matter.

The report, which covers 100 pages, charges padding of payrolls, gross waste, and the wholesale theft of supplies.

Club or others of them that those who could respond to the call went home and at the front played the game against all odds to the very end, so this tablet had been erected to those 22 members who used to be with them but would not rejoin them this side of the Veil.

NAMES OF FALLEN

The tablet would serve a double purpose. In the first place it recorded the names of those who had fallen and also it would serve as an incentive to those who remained and those who would come afterwards to be worthy successors of these men who lived cleanly and died valorously. So as they looked on the tablet they felt that those 22 men did not die in vain—nor altogether, for the spirit of loyal self sacrifice that was theirs was indeed a mighty power for good.

Mr. Brodie Clarke returned thanks to the Consul-General in the name of the Club.

The handsome bronze tablet which the Rowing Club has put up is two feet three inches broad by three feet and a half in length. At the top a pair of crossed oars and a wreath ornament the placque and the bottom is in the semblance of a rudder. The inscription "And Their Memory Liveth Evermore" is blazoned at the top of the tablet, with the dates "1914 to 1918" and the names of the members are inscribed upon brass plates.

The Club's Roll of Honor includes the following names: S. G. Berry, W. A. Birchal, E. J. Brown, G. Butland, T. Cocker, W. Davidson, J. C. E. Douglas, A. A. Drew, H. P. Dudley, A. N. Duffey, B. J. Hayward, S. Henman, B. R. Jackson, C. K. James, L. E. P. Jones, F. S. C. Jones, A. Lyall, W. J. Ralphs, M. H. Shorto, H. Symes, E. C. Symons, C. Wilson.

AT SHANGHAI CLUB

A further observance of the day was that held at 12:30 o'clock in the Shanghai Club, where the hall was filled with uniformed veterans and civilians, including the majority of those who attended the church services. A sailor and a marine, stationed in the center of the hall blew the affecting notes of the "Last Post," which was followed by the singing of the British national anthem.

In the French Concession there was also an unveiling ceremony, a tablet at the Consulate being dedicated to Frenchtown's dead in the war.

Last night at the Cercle Sportif several hundred members of the United Services Association and the corresponding French organisation sat down to a dinner at which patriotic addresses were made and tribute paid to the Allied fallen. Following the dinner a brief concert program was given and after this the members of the Associations and their relatives danced.

There was also a review of French troops, followed by an "At home" at the French Club while a banquet will be held at the French Legation this evening in honor of the armistice and also of the 50th anniversary of the French Republic.

London Is Thronged For Burial Service Of Unknown Warrior

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

London, Nov. 10.—London is thronged with people who have assembled to participate tomorrow in the historic ceremony of unveiling the cenotaph in Whitehall and the burial of the "unknown British warrior" whose body has been disinterred from the battlefield to be placed in the Abbey. Trains arriving in the city are crowded with mourners and spectators from the uttermost ends of Britain.

Reuter's correspondent in Boulogne telegraphs that the body arrived at that port yesterday afternoon, where it was received by British and French officers and borne by light representatives of the British services through lines of French soldiers presenting arms, to the Castle and there placed in a massive casket.

There four "poilus" mounted guard over it until this morning when a cortege was formed to pass through decorated streets to the quay.

The mischievous suggestion having been made that the identity of the warrior is not unknown, it is emphatically stated that no living person knows who he was.

FOCH TAKES PART

Paris, Nov. 10.—Marshal Foch presided here today over the ceremony of placing on board the vessel which will carry them back to England the remains of an "unknown British soldier."

Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson thanked him in the name of the British Army.

Operate On Captain Of Ecuador Soon After Liner Docks

Commander Fleming Is Stricken With Attack Of Appendicitis

Stricken with an acute attack of appendicitis on Wednesday night while nearing Shanghai, Captain Thomas Fleming of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company liner Ecuador was taken from the steamer shortly after it had tied up at the China Merchants' Central Wharf yesterday afternoon, rushed to Fearn's Hospital and underwent a successful operation.

Captain Fleming was examined by Dr. Walter G. Hiltner and Dr. R. P. Tenney soon after the liner docked, at two o'clock an ambulance was called, and at four o'clock the surgeons had removed the appendix. Captain Fleming was resting comfortably last night.

First Officer A. R. Hunter will be acting captain of the Ecuador when the steamer sails tomorrow morning for Manila. It is expected that Captain Fleming will return to his duties on December 4 when the liner sails from Shanghai to San Francisco.

Increased Business Shown By Returns

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—The Board of Trade returns for October are as follows:

Imports: £149,889,000, a decrease of £3,611,000 as compared with October 1919, and an increase of £78,159,000 as compared with October 1913.

Night Riders Causing Trouble In Cotton Belt

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 15 (by mail).—The movement to withhold cotton from the market, which has been making considerable headway for several weeks among the farmers and merchants of the South, assumed a nation-wide interest this week, through the stories of "night riders" who are demanding a cessation of ginning and, in some instances, the closing of stores until the price of cotton reaches 40 cents.

These "night riders" are bodies of men who have gone about the states in the eastern belt, burning gins and stores where the owners have ignored their demands.

Such action as this never has nor never will help the cotton situation. It is a misguided attempt to circumvent the laws of supply and demand that might be likened to an effort to stem Niagara with a shingle.

WRITERS DEPLORE WASTE

In a number of states the Governors have issued proclamations threatening severe punishment on any one convicted of this intimidation, but it does not seem to stop the trouble and fresh stories of new outrages appear in the press almost daily. Useless as such actions are as a determining influence upon cotton prices, they serve to show how thoroughly the South is aroused over the steadily declining quotations for its leading staple.

The scene was changed at midweek to Washington where both cotton and wheat interests, the latter now quite as thoroughly aroused as the cotton farmers, met in conference with Federal Reserve officials in a further effort to secure Government assistance in their efforts to withold grain and cotton from the market for higher prices. Refusal by the Federal Reserve officers to extend such aid on the ground that they had no authority in law for such action, led to some very bitter criticism which even extended to the President himself and included demands for the removal from office of quite a number of prominent officials, as well as a threat to seek the passage of a law for the abolition of the Chicago Board of Trade, which was held largely responsible for the break in wheat.

COTTON PRICES DROP

Meantime, under the inexorable law of supply and demand, grain and cotton prices have gone steadily lower, the latter reaching new low levels for the movement this week and largely because of selling which has originated in the South itself.

President Harding, of the Federal Reserve Board, declares that Germany is ready to take 2,000,000 bales of cotton if the South will extend suitable credit, and urges that advantage be taken of this opportunity to find a foreign market. It will doubtless be found when it comes to details, however, that European finances are in such condition at the present time that the South will be no more ready to extend the necessary credit than have been the exporters who, under normal circumstances, would long ago have been shipping boat loads of cotton to Central Europe as in days gone by.

It is one thing to shout from the house-tops that Europe needs cotton, and quite another to arrange payment for it. Were this easy, England, with large supplies on hand and mill curtailment spreading, would doubtless be glad to unload some of her cotton on others' shoulders.

SUPPLY EXCEEDS DEMAND

As local observes see it, the whole trouble with the cotton situation is that supply has overtaken and passed demand and that, in consequence of the inevitable working of the law, prices must decline to a point where demand will be stimulated. The closing of many domestic mills and short time in others, indicates that this level has not yet been reached.

Many thought that 20 cents would be the turning point but evidently even this price is unattractive to mills who watch the accumulation in their warehouses as an index of the public mind regarding prices. So long as the trend of these seems downward and just so long, it is believed, the public will limit its purchase in the hope of a still lower level.

It is said here that the South has big foreign accounts outstanding on cotton goods with foreign buyers of cottons and yarns taking unfair advantage of the situation.

Irish Officers To Pay Penalty For Part In Reprisals

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 9.—In the House of Commons today the Under-Secretary to the War Office announced that six non-commissioned officers had been reduced to the ranks for participation in the raid on Balbriggan on September 20 and another had been reduced to the ranks and given 168 hours detention for taking out a lorry without leave.

None of these soldiers were proved to have been implicated in the damage to the town and, the Under-Secretary added, and the expression sacking the town was a gross misrepresentation.

London, November 9.—In consequence of reports of massing of Sinn Fein forces in the mountainous districts a big military sweep occurred in the Kealkill district, north-east of Bantry.

Twelve residents in the district on the line of march were arrested in consequence of the discovery of quantities of explosives and weapons on their farms. Aeroplanes co-operated in the round-up.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Hundreds of Irish sympathisers marched for an hour in single file round the White House this evening as a protest against the death of MacSwiney, carrying banners inscribed: "Get the British out of Ireland" and "MacSwiney's death shall not be in sin."

The leaders announced that the march would be repeated every night for 7½ nights, the length of MacSwiney's fast. It is stated that President Wilson had no knowledge of the demonstration as he was asleep at the time.

Reductions Asked Is Mesopotamia

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 9.—In the House of Commons today, replying to Captain R. Terrell, Sir A. Williamson, Financial Secretary to the War Office, stated that the rate of expenditure in Mesopotamia and North-West Persia was £2,500,000 monthly but it was hoped that there would be substantial reductions in the next six months.

BEAVER BOARD

FOR BETTER WALLS & CEILINGS

Solid Comfort, Hot or Cold

Within Beaver Board walls and ceilings there's solid comfort. The closely-meshed pure spruce fibre of this good lumber product resists heat, cold and sound better than lath and plaster or other wall building materials.

You don't have to depend on outside labor for building Beaver Board walls and ceilings. Beaver Board is quickly nailed to the studding of new buildings or partitions or directly over old cracked plaster and dingy wall paper.

Beaver Board has endless uses about the farm. It's just the thing to line your work shop and it's even better for the building of a beautiful new room in some waste space in the house.

In a new booklet, "Building More Comfort into the Farm Home," you'll find many suggestions. It's free, together with an actual piece of Beaver Board, if you ask us.

Is Your Blood Starving For Want of Iron

—the Red Blood Food that helps give Strength and Energy?

"You're terribly run-down, John—weak, nervous and constantly out-of-sorts. You ought to try Nuxated Iron to build up your strength and vitality—and help get back the power and energy that win."

Are you worried, weak, nervous and constantly tired out? Are you totally unable to enjoy your home and social life and unfit to meet each day's work with the force and energy that lead to success?

If you are in this condition, take a short course of Nuxated Iron and note its strength-giving, upbuilding effect. You will be astonished at the results, for Nuxated Iron increases the energy and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time in many instances.

THOUSANDS of people are held back in life through lack of sufficient iron in the blood. Iron deficiency, the widespread ailment among American men and women of today, is doubly alarming because so many folks who are weak, nervous and run-down are suffering from this condition and little suspect the real and true cause of their trouble.

Iron is absolutely essential to enable the blood to transform the food you eat into muscular, nerve and brain tissue. It is through iron in the red coloring matter of the blood that life sustaining oxygen enters the body. Without iron there is no strength, vitality and endurance to combat obstacles and to withstand severe strains. Lack of sufficient iron has ruined many a man's nerves and utterly robbed him of that virile force and stamina which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life.

Success and the full enjoyment of home and social life depend as greatly upon health that you cannot afford to be without the strength, endurance, steady nerves and forceful energy which come from having plenty of iron in the blood. A weak body means a weakened brain; weak nerve force means weakened will power and, like the sprinter beaten by a length, many a capable man or woman falls just short of winning because they don't back up their mentality with the physical strength and energy which go along with rich, red, healthy blood—full of iron. That irritable twitch, that fit of despondency, that dizzy fearful feeling—these are the sort of signals Nature gives to tired, listless folks when the blood is clamoring for strength-giving iron—more iron to restore the health by enriching the blood and creating thousands of new red blood cells.

Therefore, you fellows who lack that robust vigor; who are nervous, weak and run-down and who feel the need of a strength and blood builder—get a prescription from your physician for organic iron, Nuxated Iron, or if you don't want to go to that trouble, then secure Nuxated Iron from your druggist only in its original package. Be sure that this name (Nuxated Iron) appears on the package. If you have taken other iron products and failed to get results, remember that such preparations are as entirely different thing from Nuxated Iron, the extraordinary merit of which is attested by the fact that it is used by more than three million people annually.

Not only is Nuxated Iron extremely beneficial for weak, run-down men, but also for women who are careworn, tired out and nerve racked through lack of iron in the blood. Many a woman who is pale and haggard, with nerves on edge and little energy or strength to meet the day's tasks is simply suffering from iron deficiency and does not realize it. For such women, who would have the rosy cheeks of health and the endurance and vitality so necessary to well-being, Nuxated Iron may be a veritable boon, as it will increase their energy and power in a surprisingly short time, in many instances and make them look years younger.

Many men and women foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or narcotic drug, when as a fact, real and true strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood to enable it to change food into living tissue. From their weakened, nervous condition they know something is wrong but they can't tell what. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. Numbers of run-down, nervous people who were ailing all the time have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking Nuxated Iron—and this, in some cases, after they had been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: Nuxated Iron is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. Nuxated Iron is dispensed by all good druggists. SOUTH LEADERS THINK OLD HSU SHOULD RETIRE

Views On Peace Between Central Government And Tsen Expressed In Message

The views of the Southern leaders on the peace made between the North and the Tsen administration after Tsen Chun-hsuan, Wen Tsung-yao and Chen Chin-tao were driven from Canton by General Chen Chung-ming, the victorious Southern leader, was contained in a statement issued yesterday by the Intelligence Bureau of the Constitutional Government of China.

Among those who expressed their views are Mr. Tang Shao-yi, Southern peace delegate; General Chen Chung-ming, the victorious leader and General Tang Pen-gai, the Southern Hunan Tuchun.

ISSUE STATEMENT

The full text of the message follows:

"After the delaration of unification was made by the Northern Government, General Tang Yen-kai, Tuchun of Hunan, took the initiative in telegraphing to protest against same and declared that should the Northern Government still have no sincerity in negotiating peace, the Southern provinces would have to unite in assuming autonomy and sever connection with the Northern Government.

"Chen Chung-ming, commander-in-chief of Canton, has also telegraphed that the declaration of spurious unification shows the lack of sincerity on the part of the Northern Government in negotiating peace, and that he swore to defend righteousness with substantial force.

"General Tang Chi-yao of Yunnan and General Liu Hsien-shih of Kweichow have jointly declared by telegrams that they cannot recognise the false unification which the Northern Government has declared.

CLAIM ELECTION ILLEGAL

"Other military officials of the Southern provinces have also declared by telegram that inasmuch as the new parliament has been acknowledged to be illegal and cancelled by Presidential mandate there is no reason why the President, Hsu Shih-chang, who was elected by the illegal parliament should remain in office, and that, apart from the questin of law, the six provinces, viz., Szechuen, Kwangtung, Kwangsi, Yunnan, Kweichow and Hunan, did not as a matter of fact have representatives participating in the election when Hsu Shih-chang was elected to the presidency, therefore Hsu Shih-chang cannot be the president of the Republic of China.

"Tang Shao-yi, in his telegram replying to Chin Yun-peng, has also expressed his regret for the hopelessness of peace owing to the Northern Government failing to settle the legal questions by allowing the illegal president to remain in office after the cancellation of the illegal parliament. The contents of the telegram are as follows:

Mr. Chin Yun-peng, Peking. I have the pleasure of reading your telegram dated November 1 and am very glad to note the expression of your patriotic zeal in suggesting peace and unification. While possessed with no less love for the country than others, I am of opinion that real unification must first be effected in order to secure uninterrupted peace for the people. The separation of the South and North and the unsettled political situation in recent years are principally due to the confusion of the legal system and the corrupt diplomatic dealings, that have resulted in the disturbance of national affairs and the loss of national rights.

ABOLISH MILITARY PACT

It will therefore, aggravate the political situation instead of improving it, unless the questions of diplomacy and law are first settled. In pursuance of the public opinion of the Southwest, I have declared several times that the abolition of the Military Pact, the cancellation of all secret treaties and the restoration of the law to its full force are essential to the negotiation of peace, and that the peace conference is the only proper channel to pass upon these questions.

As the matter is relative to the foundation of the country and the welfare of the people, it should be open to the public. But my advice was not followed. On the contrary the Peking Government made the declaration of unification, relying on the irresponsible utterances made by some disqualified and isolated individuals. If this step should be intended to bring about unification, it will not only cause disappointment but more trouble. It is no surprise that those individuals in their extremity should have thus seized an opportunity to retire.

But it is a pity that you should have been misled to willingly sacrifice your personal standing as well as the dignity of the Northern Government and the fundamental questions of the country. I am always ready to listen to the proposition of peace and union but my original views cannot be changed. As you are in power, your political views will control the national fate. I feel confident that you will promote the welfare of the country with loyalty.—Tang Shao-yi.

PRESIDENT SHOULD RESIGN

The Chairman of the old parliament also declared in his telegram that as the new parliament had been acknowledged to be illegal the illegal president, Hsu Shih-chang, should resign, otherwise there could be no hope of peace.

It has been very difficulty to bring about unification as the questions raised on the disunion between the South and the North during the past few years have been very complicated. But now according to the views of the constitution leaders the only question is with regard to Hsu Shih-chang.

THOMAS RETAINS SEAT

(Reuter's Service)

Germany's Disarmament Real Test Of Nation's Sincerity On Armistice

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 9.—There was the usual assemblage of Cabinet Ministers and other prominent persons at the Lord Mayor's banquet at the Guildhall tonight.

Mr. Lloyd George in the course of a speech, said that there were still perils on the path of peace but the world was gradually settling down and things were coming right.

There were several reasons for unrest, firstly, the outstanding questions between Germany and the Allies.

The disarmament of Germany was the real test of her sincerity with regard to executing the Peace Treaty. He had just received a very satisfactory report on the subject of the German army. It was already below 150,000 and on the way to 100,000.

TOO MANY RIFLES

There were still too many rifles in the possession of the population but on the whole the steps taken by Germany since Spa in this connection were a guarantee that her present rulers were sincerely resolved to carry out the Treaty to the best of their ability.

With regard to reparations, Mr. Lloyd George said that he personally was pleased with Germany's proposal for liquidating these obligations which would be examined at the forthcoming conferences.

The German Government realised that it was their first duty to repair the devastations that their armies had wrought and he was most hopeful that the discussions would give tangible results.

BOLSHEVIST CREED

With regard to Russia, the Premier said that the impossible crazy creed of Bolshevism could not survive but anarchy might survive and constitute a danger throughout the world, therefore they would persevere in trying to secure peace in Russia.

Referring to the assassinations in Ireland, Mr. Lloyd George declared that the Government had got murder by the throat. There could be no conciliation until murder and conspiracy had stopped.

The terrorists said that it was war and, if so, they could not complain if some of the rules of war were applied. He had invited anyone, competent to speak on behalf of Ireland, to come and discuss any proposals for a settlement. If he had given Germany a similar invitation during the war, he would have received a response but there was no response from Ireland because Irishmen were afraid.

TERROR IN IRELAND

They had been intimidated and this terror must be broken down before peace in Ireland could be obtained.

Mr. Lloyd George said that he was convinced that Irishmen were heartily sick of murder. The Premier's speech concluded with the words: "We are offering Ireland not subjection but equality, not servitude but honorable partnership in the greatest Empire in the World."

China's Unification Is Being Predicted

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 11.—The opinion is growing here in Chinese official circles that Gen. Chen Chiung-ming will not prove obdurate regarding unification when once he has consolidated his position at Canton. Moreover, the latest reports from Szechuen are regarded as highly favorable.

WHAT WOMAN NEEDS

above all things are Health and Happiness. These are the true Woman's Rights! Every woman is entitled to them. Dame Nature intended her daughters to be healthy in body and happy in mind. Any woman conscious of pain and trouble which she feels might be removed will be well advised to make careful enquiry as to the cause. If it is found—as indeed is frequently the case—that a disordered digestion is giving rise to ill-health and the consequent depression of spirits, medicine of the right sort will doubtless soon set matters right. But it must be of the right sort. Beecham's Pills are to be strongly recommended for woman's needs. They may be taken with perfect confidence for derangements of the digestive organs, including such unpleasant ailments as sick-headache, biliousness, flatulence, constipation and the lassitude and worries often incidental to her sex. Every woman may get nearer to Health and Happiness by using

Appeal To Be Taken In Ancient Lights Case

Leave to appeal in the connection with the decision recently given in the case wherein Tam Wah sought to restrain Atkinson and Dallas from erecting a building which would obstruct the outlook from property in Peking Road, was granted by Judge Skinner Turner in the British Supreme Court yesterday.

The application was made by Mr. R. N. Macleod, representing Tam Wah; and Mr. M. Reader Harris, for Atkinson and Dallas, did not oppose the motion.

Security for costs was fixed at £400 and the cost of making the record at $250. The court extended the order directing that the property concerned should not pass out of British jurisdiction except with the Court's permission to a bona fide sale.

Obituary

MADAME FENG

A funeral procession for the late Madame Feng, grand-mother of Mr. Feng Ping-nan of Messrs. Ellis and Hays, will take place on Sunday, starting from the North Kiangse Road residence. Madame Feng was 82 years old, and was apparently in good health until Monday when she complained of her indisposition. She passed away on Tuesday morning with little suffering. The coffin will be temporary kept in the Cantonese Guild Cemetery.

THRILLING STORY OF RACE BETWEEN 'SIR BARTON' AND 'MAN-O'-WAR' ARRIVES HERE

Riddle's Marvellous Thoroughbred Defeats Splendid Canadian Rival By Ten Lengths, Without Extending Himself—Is Greatest Race-Horse World Ever Saw, Says Expert

By W. J. Macbeth

Detroit, Oct. 12.—Man o' War beat Sir Barton. When that is said, practically all is said. He won easily—simply.

A great, handsome, powerful, irresistible three-year-old—the best three-year-old that ever looked through a bridle, and perhaps the best thoroughbred that ever looked through a bridle—beat a grand little game four-year-old when Samuel D. Riddle's marvellous Man o' War galloped home ten lengths in front of Sir Barton in their special race for a purse of $75,000 and a $5,000 gold cup at the Kenilworth track, near Windsor, this afternoon.

Man o' War, admirably piloted by Clarence Kummer, who knows this horse as well as any jockey who has ridden him, galloped the mile and a quarter in the remarkable time of 2:03 flat. Cantered, perhaps, would more aptly describe the manner of his victory. He never once was given his head, for which he was fighting throughout the entire route, save for a hundred yards or so on the far turn, when he shot away from the staggering Sir Barton just as if the latter had been tied.

Kummer wished to see how much reserve was there, no doubt, as well as to break his opponent's heart. He seemed satisfied on both scores inside a hundred yards, for he went back into a stout pull almost immediately, and through almost the entire last quarter had his mount under triple wraps.

RESOLUTIONS AT STRETCH

"Man o' War could have run close to 2 minutes flat on that track today," said Kummer, after he had got down. "He was never better fitted for a race and he kept trying to pull me out of the saddle. I kept well out from the rail at the stretch turn, because of the great crowd there that had come down to watch the start. They had their heads stuck through the fence and some were even on the track. I was careful to keep on eye on Sir Barton so that he would not be able to start a chance sprint through on the rail. Once satisfied his cork was drawn, I simply coasted home."

Brilliant as was the occasion and gay the setting for Man o' War's latest achievement, there nevertheless was a touch of pathos attaching to the occasion. Frankie Keogh and not Earl Sande, the stable jockey, rode Commander J. K. L. Ross's Sir Barton. The multi-millionaire sportsman himself decided on the change at the eleventh hour. He had brought Keogh from Maryland to have a second string to his bow in case of accident or sickness to Sande.

JOCKEY BROKENHEARTED

Mr. Ross, somewhat displeased with the timorous manner in which Sande handled His Choice in the sixth race at Kenilworth Monday, attributed it to a case of nerves on the part of his stable jockey. Keogh was the most surprised man on the track when notified that he was expected to ride. He had brought nothing from Maryland and had to borrow a set of accouterments.

Sande is broken-hearted tonight. His case is pitiable, as he feels the slight reflects upon his name as well as upon his horsemanship. Every one feels the situation did not call for such a drastic move, especially as Guy Bedwell and Mr. Ross both admitted after the race that they feared they would be beaten by a superhorse.

RIVAL OWNERS' PRAISE

"There's nothing in the land can beat him," said Commander Ross, nodding toward Man o' War, as he was surrounded by countless thousands of admiring eyes after having been returned to the little paddock near the judges especially reserved for winners.

"He's a super-horse, a marvel, the horse of the ages, every inch a horse. He never left the race in doubt for a second. I really believe his performance today was as good as a mile and a quarter in 2:01 at Saratoga or Belmont, for I am sure Kenilworth was fully two seconds slower today than either of those courses at their best. The greatest horse of history." The Commander was the first to congratulate Samuel D. Riddle and Trainer Louis Feustel.

ALMOST A RECORD

Man o' War, in beating Sir Barton, undoubtedly ran the most remarkable race ever witnessed in the Dominion of Canada. He carried his 120 pounds as if it had been a feather, and he rolled along as if out for an exercise spin. On a comparatively new track, which must be slow as even the older Canadian tracks go, he came within a fifth of a second of the Canadian record for the distance, which was set by the five-year-old Boots, under 114 pounds, at 2:02 4-5, at Fort Erie, August 5, 1916. All things considered, the performance of the super-horse was much better than this, and he could easily have shattered the Canadian mark had he ever been extended or even permitted to finish out the last quarter as he seemed anxious to do.

HAS WON $244,265

By his victory today Man o' War, irrespective of his future, will go down into history as one of the most remarkable thoroughbreds the turf world has ever known. At the conclusion of his second campaign he had already achieved the distinction of being the greatest winner the American turf ever developed. The $75,000 he won today brought Man o' War's total winnings to $244,265, not counting the $5,000 gold cup and other trophies. Domino previously had held the American record; the late James R. Keene's horse earned $193,500 in prize money.

Man o' War today stands fourth among the world's greatest money winners, and if he goes to the races as a four-year-old he can undoubtedly surpass the world's record of the noted Isinglass ($288,000) before the end of another campaign.

Man o' War Beaten Once In 21 Starts

Man o' War, which decisively defeated Sir Barton in a match contest yesterday, during his racing career has started in twenty-one races, ten as a two-year-old in 1919, and eleven as a three-year-old. He won nine of his ten starts in 1919 and eleven, straight this year. His record is as follows:

	Starts	1st	2nd	3rd	Unpl.	Won.
1920	11	11	0	0	0	160,940
Tls.	21	20	1	0	0	$244,265

Starting in six races as a two-year-old Sir Barton did not win a race, but finished second to Dunboyne, in 1918. In his three and four-year-old career he won thirteen races out of twenty-two starts. Following is his record:

	Starts	1st	2nd	3rd	Unpl.	Won.
1918	6	0	1	0	5	$4,118
1919	13	8	2	2	0	88,250
1920	9	5	1	1	2	22,095
Tls.	28	13	5	3	7	$114,458

RAIN PREVENTS CRICKET MATCH IN HONGKONG

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Hongkong, November 11.—A heavy downpour of rain, beginning early this morning and continuing with infrequent intermissions throughout the day, compelled a postponement of the start of the scheduled two-day cricket controversy between the Shanghai "Irrépressibles" and the team representing the Straits Settlements, which yesterday vanquished Hongkong by the narrow margin of 83 runs.

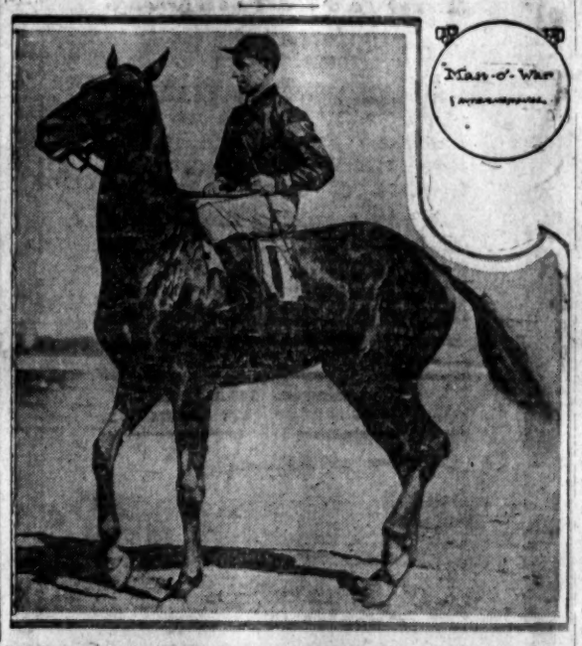
This evening the visiting players, accompanied by the members of the Hongkong team, will be the guests of the St. George's Society at a smoker-concert staged for their benefit in the Theater Royal. Despite the rain everybody is having a good time.

Basketballers Are Urged To Gather Tomorrow Evening

The last practice games of basketball, preliminary to the formation of the 1920 Foreign League, will be played tomorrow evening at the Shanghai "Y."

President C. D. Glauque earnestly requests that all prospective players be on hand for this last "test night," in order that the League may start its schedules promptly, and with good teams.

He Is Now Proclaimed Greatest Horse In World



Man o' War, the story of whose victory over Sir Barton is told in these columns today, is said to be the greatest thoroughbred ever developed. He is expected to break all records when he appears on the American tracks next year as a four-year-old.

Arnold Wins First Prize In Champions

PENSIONS RICSHA MAN

The first thing Mr. Arnold did, Dame Rumor declares, was to pension his 'ricsha man for life. The next was to bestow a very handsome gift upon the wife of the man who rode "The Hawk" to victory. Further than that deponent sayeth not.

Just what Mr. Arnold intends to do with what remains of the $167,294.40—we have no idea what it costs to pension a 'ricsha man for life or bestow a "very handsome gift" upon the wife of the man who rode "The Hawk" to victory—could not be ascertained previous to the publication of this issue of THE CHINA PRESS.

He may be contemplating a number of things—though, as "Mory Bund" pointed out in yesterday's issue, the opportunities are more or less limited in both Europe and America, now that the militarists and the reformers have completed their self-elected tasks of world-reorganisation.

Suffice that Mr. Arnold, hailing from a land famous for its Alpine meadows, cuckoo clocks and hole-filled cheese may be counted upon to exercise due care in the dispensing of his winnings—and may joy go with him!

Incidentally, Mr. Arnold, who works for Arnhold Bros., in the same department as the jockey who rode the horse which won the Champions, which is owned by a stable in which Mr. H. E. Arghold is one of the principal stockholders—is said to be entirely entitled to all of the good luck that has come his way.

RUMORS ON SECOND

There are various rumors afloat as to the winner of the second prize of $47,798.40. One insists that the prize was won by the daughter of a Chief Examiner of the Customs—a Mr. Mandelkoff. That the young woman is engaged to be married and was sharing her ticket with her fiance, while her father actually purchased the ticket for the pair.

Another says that a Chinese—a 'rough man,' if one can believe one's room-boy—had captured the trophy; while still another version is that the coveted prize went to a Madame Komaroff, a wealthy Russian woman. Still other rumors insist that the winning ticket (second) was held variously in Canton, Ningpo and Antofagasta, Chile.

Whoever has it, he (or she, or they) is (or are) welcome to it. Such pin-money would do us no good in our present embarrassed financial predicament.

J. ELMORE AND HARGREAVES WIN TENNIS TITLE

Annex French Club Doubles Championship—Shih Wins At Singles

Messrs. J. Elmore and J. E. Hargreaves yesterday won the open gentlemen's doubles title in the tennis tournament which has been going on during the week under the auspices of the Cercle Sportif Francaise, on the courts of that organisation.

The winners, after disposing of Messrs. E. Norman and W. R. Butchart in the semi-final round (4-6, 6-2, 6-2) met Messrs. H. H. Knowles and (—) Greensmith in the finals. Some excellent tennis resulted, Messrs. Elmore and Hargreaves finally capturing the match at 6-0, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1.

In the first round of the singles championship (C.S.F.) Mr. A. E. Thompson defeated Mr. V. Elliott by the scores of 6-8, 7-5, 8-6. In the second round Mr. Elmore defaulted to Mr. R. B. Nichols and Mr. C. L. Shih defeated Mr. B. Khrenoff, 6-2, 6-4.

In the third round Mr. Shih somewhat easily vanquished Mr. J. E. Hargreaves, 6-1, 6-4. Chilly weather interfered somewhat with the form of the players.

BRITON AND YANK DISCUSS RIVAL HEAVYWEIGHTS AND THEIR CHANCES IN THE RING

"Berkeley" Thinks Dempsey Is Weak On Defence—Broun Sees Carpentier For First Time And Likes Him—Thinks Frenchman Has A Good Chance

Should Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier ever come to blows in the prize-ring—which now seems likely but might fail of realisation—the American heavyweight champion will have not such "cinch" as is popularly imagined, if the opinions expressed below are any criterion.

Of the two writers thus lined up along the "deadly parallel" one is a noted English student of the red-blooded art of self-defense, while the other is an equally famous American dramatic critic, who occasionally takes a fling at the ringside "for the good of his soul," as he once confided to me.

Read what they have to say, admirers of M'sieu Carpentier, and be comforted:

Carpentier Great

BY HEYWOOD BROUN

(New York Tribune)

Carpentier is a beautiful fighter to watch. We leave it to the experts to say how good he is, as we have suggested that the Levinsky fight showed little of his defensive ability.

He is a marvelously fast and hard puncher. In many respects he fulfills the average American's conception of a Frenchman. His hair is at least two months too long. Coming into the ring he wore a natty raglan and a sport cap. Although he has been knocked out several times there are no marks for it.

Carpentier is just as handsome as the moving picturers said he was. There the semblance ends. He does not dance or flutter. There is an absolute earnestness about him. He suggests no American fighter so much as Stanley Ketchel. He is a slugger, though a sharpshooter.

Seemingly the battle of Verdun was not enough to kill the old conventional American conception of the French. The general opinion about the ring seemed to be that Levinsky would last.

"Why this Carpentier's nothing but one of them frog-eaters," said the man behind us. But if frogs can put such a kick into the right hand wallop, there are fighters here who will begin to wade on their own account.

Carpentier has come a long way since the day in Lens, when he watched the performance of Deschamps, the traveling showman, and wheedled his way into the troupe.

He was a juggler first and then an acrobat, but now it's his opponents who turn the somersaults. Bantam, feather, lightweight and all the classes he grew into his present 170 pounds.

He was a good aviator, too, but he could have done more to the Germans we think with his fists than with bombs.

We used to see him at Maxim's, in Paris, and though we knew that he was a fighter it did not seem possible that anybody so good looking could hit so hard.

Our other hitting heroes, our Ruths and or Dempseys are kin to Mr. Tarzan of the Apes, but here's a man who might have stepped out of a clothing advertisement but who carries destruction in either fist.

You can't do the easy thing and speak of cavemen. There's too much polish on his finger nails.

Dempsey "Easy"

BY BERKELEY

(London Daily Mail)

I have learned nothing from the American newspaper accounts of the Miske-Dempsey fight beyond that the champion is adjudged to be a "man-eater," a tornado, a terror, and so on.

All that may be, but the two photographs of the contest which I have seen do not add anything to my respect for Dempsey's boxing powers. In both he is slogging at his man without a guard or a pretence of a guard. Of course, Miske may have been practically helpless at the moments these blows were delivered, but he certainly does not look as if he were.

I have many suspicions about Dempsey, and the strongest of them is that he is not a boxer in the sense that Carpentier is a boxer. Dempsey, since he won the championship from the mountain of flesh, Willard, has never been hit as I am sure Carpentier could and would hit him.

Candour is certainly a characteristic of Carpentier in his book. Thus the French champion on Bombardier Wells:

"Since that night (when Wells was knocked out at the N.S.C.) I always regarded Wells as one of the most pathetic figures in the ring. Charming, graceful, softly spoken, a man with generous instincts, a magnificent boxer—all this Wells is but he cannot fight. Physically he is built for the fighting game; temperamentally he is wholly unsuited for it. He is perhaps the most uncertain champion ever known. Few if any boxers have made such woful failures; and yet, in point of popularity, he is second to none."

What have the hosts of Well's worshippers to say to this? Has Carpentier at last knocked out their idol beyond recovery? This should still be not the least interesting problem of the coming boxing season.

ZINOVIEFF URGES GERMANS TO REBEL

DEATH TO BOURGEOISIE

Not Entitled To Quarter, He Declares—Conservative Minority

Halle, Germany, October 14 (Associated Press).—For fully four hours tonight G. S. Zinovieff, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Third Internationale and one of the four big chiefs of Soviet Russia, pleaded with the Independent Socialists at their convention here to join with Moscow, create a revolution in Germany and help carry out the proletarian program for a world revolution.

At the conclusion of the Russian's address the radicals of the party and the audience in the packed galleries stood with bared heads singing the Internationale, while the conservatives walked slowly out of the hall.

A great ovation was then accorded Zinovieff, with many "Hochs" and cries of "Long live the Internationale" and the waving of hats.

It is expected that the vote as to whether the independents will adhere to the Moscow organisation will be taken tomorrow.

SPEAKER THREATENED

Throughout his impassioned argument the Russian orator was the storm center of cries of approval from the Left wing in his audience, followed by bitter words from the Right. At one time he charged the German labor unions with being "no better than Noske's White Guards," and said that they were tools in the hands of the capitalists. The entire audience hissed its disapproval of this declaration, and a number of the Right wing leaders, shaking their fists, rushed to the rostrum, threatening the speaker and demanding retraction.

During the demonstration the Bolshevik, young, smooth-faced and slight of build, leaned on his left elbow and ran the thin fingers of his right hand through his short, thick black hair and smiled with apparent amusement. This attitude infuriated his auditors, and it was only with the greatest of difficulty that the Chairman after some minutes was able to restore order. Zinovieff then resumed his speech and soon won back the sympathy of the crowd.

ANSWERS ATTACKS

Zinovieff devoted much of his time to answering attacks by Herr Crispien, Vice Chairman of the Independent Socialist Party, and Wilhelm Dittmann, Radical Socialist member of the Reichstag, on the policy of the Soviet on first-hand evidence of its operations which they obtained during their visit to Moscow with Herr Stocker and Ernest Daumig, the two last-named men having supported Bolshevism during the first two days of the conference.

Zinovieff declared that the agrarian policy of the Soviet was necessary because the peasants would not be satisfied to work the land solely for the State. He defended terrorism on the ground that it had been necessary in the early stages of the revolution. The speaker asserted that the Balkans were now ready for revolution, which later would be extended to Asia and America.

He denied that the Bolsheviki would use Germany to attack France, but he declared that if the Germans joined the Third Internationale they must accept Moscow's orders.

HOLY WAR ON CAPITAL

Zinovieff predicted that it would require a generation to accomplish the universal realisation of Communism. He said the Asiatic Nations must also be mobilised. "After being freed from much religious tradition," for a holy war on capitalism. He said the English proletariat was now undergoing an evolution of world significance, in that a double Government was already in existence in England, which meant eventual death to the bourgeoisie. The bourgeoisie, he said, were not entitled to any quarter, as they would not hesitate to slaughter hundreds of thousands more of the world's proletariat.

Concluding his address, Zinovieff said that every sentence of the Moscow platform must not be taken literally as unalterable gospel. He invited the convention to formulate conditions which would facilitate negotiations.

STORMY SESSION

This statement precipitated another outbreak among the delegates, who immediately engaged in lively debate among themselves.

In the course of the speeches of Dittmann and Stocker the conference frequently threatened to end in disorder. The gray head of George Ledebour was always a storm center to the radicals. Twice he invaded the Left Wing and threatened its leader, Adolf Hoffmann. The members of the Left continually were held down by their leaders, and the uproar generally proceeded from the galleries and the conservatives.

The convention took an adjournment until Friday.

Zinovieff's residence is unknown except to the Communists, who have refused to disclose it.

Mr. Cochrane returns to Shanghai after a six-months' tour of inspection of his compony's Far Eastern offices.

Against Bolshevism After Trip In Russia

Frank H. King, Formerly Of Japan Advertiser, Reported Soviet-Polish War

When he emerged from Bolshevist Russia, having made his way across the entire domain of the Soviet, from Lake Baikal to the Finnish border, Frank H. King was sent by the Associated Press immediately to Danzig to cover the Soviet-Polish war. A letter has just been received in Tokio from Mr. King, dated Stockholm, August 25, in which he says:

"I am at last out of Russia, broke, fairly hungry and decidedly anti-Bolshevik, ever so much more so than when I trekked across the Gobi desert to get into the land of great unwashed. Had hopes of going directly home, but here I find that I'm ordered to go down to Danzig to keep an eye on that end of the Polish situation."

Mr. King, formerly of the staff of The Japan Advertiser in Tokio and Vladivostok, and representative of the Chicago Tribune in Siberia early in May started to cross Russia. He went by way of Peking, Urga, Kiatka and Irkutsk.

May Have Sea Lanes Across Pacific Ocean

Plan Now Under Consideration Would Make Collision Practically Impossible

Owing to the increased number of steamers crossing the Pacific both by the northern route and to San Francisco via Honbiuiu it is now proposed to have each steamship company map out a well defined lane which will be followed by its vessels both east and west bound and to furnish this information to other companies.

This is done on the Atlantic and is considered a help in reducing the chances for accidents at sea. Recently a big passenger liner, on a voyage from the Pacific Coast to Yokohama, met nine vessels during the trip. There is always a possibility of collision under existing circumstances. If each company has a definite route to follow which is known by all shipping men travel will be safer.

Several of the large steamship companies have approved of the scheme and have reported the route followed by their ships. Others have reported favorably and are now taking the matter up with their head offices.

Optimist Defined By Dean Inge

GUARD THE BABY AGAINST COLDS

To guard the baby or young child against colds nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy. These Tablets are a mild laxative which will keep the little one's stomach and bowels working regularly. It is a recognised fact that when the stomach and bowels are in good order colds will not exist: that the health of the little one will be good, and that he will thrive and be happy.

Baby's Own Tablets also cure vomiting, feverishness, indigestion and expel worms. They make teething easy; are guaranteed to be free from opiates and perfectly harmless.

Hankow Market

Finance and Money Market

Hankow, Nov. 3, 1920.

Another quiet week was experienced, with a few bills offering towards the end of October, and little if any demand. Taels T. T. on Shanghai. The market rose to 97.275, but fell again at the end of the week to 97⅛ Chinese market. Foreign Banks would sell at about 97½. Dollars also rose and were quoted at 69.95—70.15 buyers and sellers, closing steady. Interest fell from 18 percent to 15 percent. Changsha Exchange. Nominal.

IMPORTS

There was a small demand for Black Venetians, and clearances were a little better. There was also a small demand for Yarn at poor prices. In the latter product the Shanghai market was about Han. Tls. 15-19 above local values.

EXPORTS

Nothing of interest to report. The market is absolutely stagnant.

"The World Is Full Of The Silences Of God"

(Being the Armistice Day Sermon of Rev. W. Robbins, Chaplain of the United Services Association, delivered yesterday at the Cathedral observance).

"AN image was before mine eyes, there was silence, and I heard a still voice saying: shall mortal man be more just than God."

Job was the type of man who never fails to find God. He took trouble to correlate his experience of life with what he had learned of God and in the process learnt more both of God and life's meaning.

Troubled by the problems of life and death, good and evil, justice and injustice, he wanted to square his faith in God with the apparent injustices of life and it was by this process that God educated him. During the process of his education he learned much and one important thing he learned from his so-called friends, viz., that much argument drowns the voice of truth and that silence is necessary to the soul of man to enable him to bear the still voice of God, and it was in the silence that he heard just the message for which his soul was waiting—the truth which enabled him to look beyond the apparent contradictions and injustices of life and to believe that the Creator could not be outdone in justice by man, his creation.

We have met today to remember and to honor our Comrades of the Great War those who passed out of sight of men by the path of self-sacrifice and duty.

They went with songs to the battle but came not back again and we buried them where they fell—in the ground which they held so bravely or in Britain's own domain in the wide, unfettered sea, but we know in our heart of hearts that though gone, they still remain.

We have stood with bowed heads in silence, their image was before our eyes. We have seen them once again in the spirit, but have we heard the still voice of God breaking the silence? This it is which will make our memory of them a holy thing and prevent it becoming a mere weakening emotion.

They have gone to the land of wider vision, they know so much more than when we saw them last and I can conceive it to be their earnest desire that our memory of them should link us on to God.

Do we not need to hear the Voice of God breaking the silence? Surely we do.

The war raised more problems than it settled and among them the old, old problem of God's justice in the face of all we have seen.

The world is full of the Silence of God. Men ask for answers to the questions of their souls and none or, at best, only partial ones are given. Why?

Not because God does not care, but because He has given us the faculty of faith and so He limits our knowledge that we may exercise this faculty.

The Knowledge of God is too great a thing to be cheaply won; its first demand is a firm unshaken faith in a world-controlling God and it is when men exercise this faculty that the silence is broken and the answer comes.

We are here in the house of God and in His presence paying our debt of honor and respect to the fallen and as the memories of them crowd in upon us, can we honor them better than by making our memorial of them a definite act of faith in God's love and justice.

They were fine and strong and just and their lives were given in the cause of justice, but they were mortal—and God's eternal question echoes in our ears with the irresistible logic of truth "Shall mortal man be more just than God, his Maker"?

Their justice stands for a pledge of God's greater justice and their example calls us with a clarion note to rise and live, each in his own degree for the cause for which they, our brothers and sisters, counted life itself well lost.

LOANING MONEY AS A FAMINE RELIEF MEASURE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir.—I have received the following letter from Percy C. Leslie, M.D., Secretary Treasurer, Famine Relief Committee, Canadian Presbyterian Mission, Changho, under date of November 5, 1920.

"A large proportion of people in North Honan, who are faced with serious famine problems, are farmers with large as well as small land holdings. At present these people have neither money nor grain, but they have excellent security in Land, and an excellent promise of a good wheat crop by June 1, 1921. Money if available from ordinary sources is at such high rate of interest that family disaster would only be delayed rather than averted, but why should these people be regarded as poor and requiring Famine Relief without a return for relief given? Why should they be pauperised by giving, without repayment?

We believe that a great deal can be done for these people, if a system of loans was made available for such as can furnish security by offering land, in fact an ordinary mortgage. The Executive of the Mission's Famine Relief Committee approves of this Scheme, the Provincial Committee gave its approval, but has no money available. Now if sums of money were placed at our disposal we are prepared to disburse them in the form of Mortgages on land, and in less than a year there is reasonable promise that the money would be returned to its original source.

As to whose name such mortgages should be made in favor of, we suggest that the Society who advances the money is the most appropriate name to use, preferable to the name of a Mission or of an individual.

Conditions of the loan, suggested are:

1.—A loan without interest, repayable on First day of 9th (ninth) month, 1921 (Chinese Calendar).

2.—Failure to repay by this date will entail interest at 3 percent per month from date at which money was loaned.

3.—Failure to repay two months later will cause forfeiture of land.

These terms are both generous and severe, generous in first instance, but practically force the return of money on date agreed upon.

If money is provided, the Executive of the Canadian Presbyterian Mission Famine Relief Committee will use it carefully and cautiously, affording relief to a large number by issuing only small amounts to any one person.

Rev. Murdock MacKenzie, D.D., ex-Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, from the famine region in which Dr. Leslie lives, is now in Town in the interests of famine relief, and may be consulted at the China Inland Mission by parties interested.

The scheme appears to me workable, and Dr. Leslie is a keen business man, and is prepared to work the scheme within that district. Of course, there are many schemes proposed, but this one may appeal to some when other appeals fail.

Yours faithfully,
Donald MacGillivray,
General Secretary, Christian Literature Society.

No, come out with a smile.

But where do they go in the winter? That number by the way probably will win the next Champions' Sweep.

Swapping Yarns With Our Washington Celebrities

BY FRED C. KELLY

Vice-President Marshall believes in the old Presbyterian theory of fore-ordination.

He has always felt a certain disappointment that he is not a newspaper man. His preference in life would be to write editorials on a paper where he could sink his personality, as he puts it, "behind the anonymity of a big newspaper corporation.' But he is convinced that it was not intended that he should write editorals, else the authorities would not have cleaned out the reservoir at Moberly, Mo., just when they did. And if they had let the reservoir alone Thomas Riley Marshall would probably be a newspaper writer instead of Vice-President of the United States.

Here was the situation: When Marshall finished college a relative who was running a paper at Moberly invited him to come and take a job. He saw that it was his chance to become a newspaper man, and he took it. The work was alluring and he felt certain that he was going to make his dent in journalism. But he had been in town only a short time when the city officials determined, for some reason, to drain the reservoir that held the town's water supply. When they did so they solved the mystery of the disappearance of four or five missing citizens.

Now, Marshall liked his job, but the town was queered with him forever. He could not endure living in a place where his drinking water contained minute particles of persons who were total strangers. So he quit his job and went to Indiana. While waiting for another newspaper job to loom on the horizon he began to study law, and that was the end of his newspaper career.

Sorry as he is that he never became a great editorial writer, Marshall feels certain his life has worked out just as it was planned a few million eons ago. His belief is that:

"No man dies until his work is done—if he is willing to do it."

A Legal Joke

"A lawyer friend came to me the other day, laughing himself half to death over a little joke he had played," relates Representative Greene, of Vermont.

"He was employed by the Pullman Company to look after its interests in a small case that necessitated some traveling over the country. And here is how he played his joke: He tipped the Pullman porter $1 every time he got on a train—and put it in his expense account."

Scholarly Profanity

It is fascinating to listen to the echversation of Representative Charles Manly Stedman, of North Carolina. He is tall, erect, white haired and of distinguished appearance, and his language is always that of a scholar. His sentences are all framed with much care and are noteworthy for their polished diction. He never split an infinitive in his life. Most of his everyday talk might have been lifted right from The Atlantic Monthly.

And yet, let him fall to discussing something that he is not entirely in sympathy with—the Progressive party, for example—and he can insert swear words right into the midst of his high-brow phrases with an unexpectedness that is startling. Immediately he apologises.

"I rarely use profanity," he says, "but there are some things that annoy me exceedingly."

Then he resumes his scholarly talk about one thing and another, and presently the discussion brings him up to woman suffrage, let us say.

Again he departs from his regulation phraseology to hurl a few vigorous, uncatalogued swear words—after which, as usual, he apologises, explaining that, while he rarely stoops to profane language, there are some present-day tendencies that stir his ire to a point where ordinary words do not fit.

He is indubitably the most scholarly swearer in Congress.

Johnson's Trick Boat

To look at Representative Ben Johnson, with his tall, rugged figure, and face as solemn as the janitor of a cemetery, one would never pick him for a man who would go out of his way in the interest of a practical joke.

Yet Johnson is the man who introduced the trick boat into Kentucky waters. As he sat and stared at the river that runs by his farm in Kentucky he conceived a rowboat that would look like any other boat, but that would be constructed so weirdly that nobody could get into it without capsising. No sooner thought of than he placed the order for the comedy craft. After that, whenever his friends came out to see him, Johnson would place a pint of Kentucky Burbon engagingly at the far end of the boat as it lay innocently in the water, tied to a log on shore. Then he would sit on his veranda and listen to the stories his friends told, when they came up after dry clothes, about how they happened to fall in.

As fond as he is of a good joke, Johnson never laughs. When he is extremely overcome by mirth he gives just sad little chuckle, that is all.

A Modest Senator

Senator Myers, of Montana, says his greatest surprise on becoming a member of the United States Senate was to find the other Senators such a bunch of good fellows. He had an idea that a newcomer would be subjected to some kind of initiation, somewhat like a new boy gets at school. He was certain that the older Senators would have little to say to him, but would glare at him for weeks with the austerity of the doorman at an exclusive club.

Senator Myers is an exceptionally modest man. After he had been in the Senate for a few months he went over to the House one day to see a member and, instead of taking advantage of the privilege of the House floor, sent in his card by one of the doormen.

"You might just walk in, Senator," suggested the door tender, affably.

"Would it be permissible?" asked Myers. "I should hate to intrude."

Not until he was assured positively that it would be perfectly all right did the Senator pass into the House chamber.

Boyhood Ambitions

When Senator Henry F. Ashurst, of Arizona, was six years old his father made him a present of a copy of "Abbott's Lives of the Presidents." Little Henry took the statesmanship proposition seriously right off. His teachers used to introduce him to visitors as the boy who desired to be President.

Now He's In Congress

When Carl Hayden, Congressman from Arizona, got married he visited Washington on his honeymoon. His wife had never been in Washington before and she liked the tone of the city.

"Oh, o-oh!" she exclaimed "Wouldn't I like to live here! Couldn't you get to be a Congressman or something?"

"That a new idea," said Hayden, "but I'll see what can be done."

And when he got back home he began to scheme to get himself elected to Congress. It took three or four years of maneuvering, but he never quit plugging away until he found himself enrolled among the lawmakers of the nation.

Turning An Election

Queer things land men in Congress. When Zeke Chandler, of Mississippi, ran the first time he had little chance of election until one night his buggy upset in a river while he was on his way to a meeting. He got wet clear up to his hat, and his suit began to shrink. It was one of those two-piece crash suits that clothing merchants are wont to label "A Bargain at $14.85."

His friends advised him not to go to the meeting, as his opponent usually wore a long frockcoat and looked like a Congressman, and the contrast might be too much for the voters. But Ezekiel went and let them laugh at him, and explained that he never stopped for obstacles, such as the mere falling into a river, when he set out to do anything, and he would keep up that policy if they sent him to Congress.

That incident turned the tide in his favor and he was elected.

Kenyon's Double Victory

Years ago, Senator William S. Kenyon, of Iowa, was running for county prosecutor on the Republican ticket. His Democratic opponent had the backing of a man who was not only the leading Democrat in the community but also had a beautiful daughter. Kenyon was extremely fond of the beautiful daughter, and that made complications. For Kenyon feared that if her father opposed him in politics he might get the habit and oppose him in other and even more serious ways. Moreover, the daughter was one of the dutiful kind that shared her father's view that to vote anything but the straight Democratic ticket was wicked.

One day, when Kenyon went to call, he found the daughter in tears. She confessed reluctantly that she had had words with her father. It seemed that father had refused her a favor—refused to scratch the ticket to vote for a certain young man who was running for prosecutor.

With that encouragement Kenyon went to the daughter's father and effected a compromise by which father agreed to give Kenyon his daughter but absolutely refused to yield his suffrage. But Kenyon, by way of making the thing complete, went ahead and beat father's candidate for prosecutor, anyway. After which both he and daughter laughed at father right heartily.

The Letter Of The Law

Representative Edward T. Taylor, of Colorado, was prosecuting attorney for one section of that state in the days when the country was rough and uncouth. One morning Taylor handed the sheriff a warrant for the arrest of a chap charged with robbery.

"Please execute this," he said.

The sheriff was new at the job and thought he was to execute the man, instead of merely the warrant. He hunted up the man and pleasantly shot him, thus saving Taylor the bother of carrying on a prosecution.

Quoting Bill Nye

When former Representative Smith, of Buffalo, was a reporter in that town he was sent one day to interview Bill Nye.

The famous humorist struck Buffalo on a lecture tour, and Smith had instructions to shake him down for a column or more of stuff.

It occurred to Smith that even Bill Nye might have difficult in thinking up a volume of funny things right off the bat, and he worked another scheme. He went to eight or nine members of the staff and asked each one of them to write 200 words of imaginary interview with Bill Nye, setting forth what they thought Nye would be likely to say. Then Smith combined these several interviews into one, had it placed in type and took a proof of it over to Nye's hotel.

"Mr. Nye," said Smith, after introducing himself, "here is a proof of my interview with you. I thought I'd have you look it over to insure against any inaccuracy creeping in."

Nye solemnly took the sheet and read it. When he had finished he turned to Smith, still solemnly, and said:

"My boy, I've been interviewed hundreds of times, but this is the first time I have ever been quoted correctly."

Making The Boy Into A Real Man

BY DR. WM. A. MCKEEVER
(Prominent Educator and Author of Books on the Training of Boys and Girls)

"Get off that milk diet. Work out that gooseflesh with hard training. Change your baby beef for bully beef before you try to go up against the line with the first team in this school."

Thus a high school athletic director admonished his audience of big, bulky ball team "prospects" on the first day of school. And the crowd was eager with attention and cheers. It was evident that they believed their leader was uttering a profound truth, for they seemed to be arranging their plans decisively for coming up to the requirements. In that school, as is usually the case, you may expect the class football practise to attend promptly to duty, to practise hard and to make a creditable showing both as a team and as individuals.

But the "baby beef" is the point of discussion here. It is quite as necessary for your child to exchange his soft flesh for hard muscular tissue as it is for him to shed his baby teeth and grow a firmer set of permanent ones.

Up to a certain point—and that is often continued for too long—the child is nourished on a milk diet. The texture of his flesh feels to the touch like a soft pillow. He is "baby beef." Now, all this lose tissue must be torn out by the so-called katabolic processes. Sugar, water, oxygen and emotional excitement, as listed, as listed, are the agencies to be put to work here, and much invigorating exercise is the method. The baby cells must be burnt out and carried away through the excretive tracts, including the pores. Perspiration is here perhaps more necessary than inspiration, which will naturally follow in its order.

This transformation of the body from the milk-fed baby texture to the sugar-fed adult body is as necessary for your girl as for your boy. It is not a visible process, but it is a tangible one. Under certain conditions woods, or even flesh, will petrify; that is, turn to stone and that without changing its outer form.

The bent-over quiescent bookworm child—the sensory, intellectual type—is the one which is especially prone to be neglected and permitted to carry his baby body far into adult life where it will become an encumbrance for the remainder of his days. A soft-tissue grown man can scarcely solidify his body even through exercise, and he will not try to.

Rigorous play, regular physical training, daily performance of a certain amount of work to open the pores and thus sweat out the burnt milk tissue—that is what your preadolescent deserves as a right and just treatment of his body and as a foundation for a virile mind. The baby-beef man, like the baby-beef boy, lacks punch, both physical and mental. He cannot be virile, and is likely to be negative, vacillating and weak, both in his thinking and acting.

Get the athletic leader's cue. Transform the "baby-beef" of your boy into the "bully beef" of the man! Burn out the milk cells. Build in the iron tissues.

Physician Warns Against Certain Types Of Girls

Types of girls whom young men should not marry have been catalogued as follows by a London pamphleteer who calls himself "The Widowed Physician."

1. Beware of the girls who manicure their nails to the shape of a claw. I do not know why, but beware of them.

2. Beware of the girls who prefer to dress in purple or scarlet colors. There is usually something wrong with their morals.

3. Beware of the girls who are heavily scented.

4. Beware of the girl who is too obviously modest and demure. She doth protest too much.

5. Beware of the girl with the low, sloping forehead and dry, straight, coarse, jute-like hair. And experienced magistrate will tell you this type of woman frequently summon their husbands for assault and battery.

6. Beware of the intensely religious girl. She does not mean to be dangerous or passionate, but the fact that she is so devotional indicates that she possesses an unbalanced, passionate temperament.

7. Beware of the girl who sidles up to you, or lays her hands on you, or comes so close to you as to lead you readily to lay hands on her.

8. Specially beware of "harried women" of reputed respectability, whom you have formerly had every reason to believe in and respect, when these same women, by acts obvious or guarded, show you that they would not object to your being more intimate with them than you know in your own conscience you ought to be.

9. Beware of visiting with a chum's sisters, unless, of course, you wish to get married.

10. Beware of the mothers who are anxious as to the future of their daughters.

11. Beware of the girl who drinks wines freely; she will make a poor wife and a worse mother.

1. Beware of the girl who dresses in a slovenly, artistic manner.

The "Widowed Physician" recommends two types—the tomboy and the "pert modern self-sufficient learned young woman."

WAFFLE CHAMPIONSHIP

Marine Eats 26½ In 30 Minutes And Defeats Army In Contest

New York, Oct. 16.—Forty-eight waffles disappeared like snowflakes at the Home Economics Booth in the Grand Central Palace yesterday when the champion waffle eaters of the army and marine corps clashed to decide the waffle eating championship of the world. Speed of assimilation and number of waffles disposed of were the deciding points of the epochal contest, with penalties for sniffling and choking.

Let it be known over the world that the Man o' War of the waffle turf is Private Paul Francis Jones of the United States Marine Corps, who ate twenty-six and one-half waffles yesterday, without fumbling one. Time: 30 minutes flat. He started training for the contest at 3 o'clock in the afternoon by eating a porterhouse steak smothered in onions, French fried potatoes, asparagus, doughnuts and coffee.

The contest began at 4:30 o'clock, with two chefs de combat stationed at two big waffle irons, borrowed from the Electrical Show, to fry the ammunition for the world's waffle championship. On one side stood the confident marine, picking his teeth and sniffling the odors as the chefs got the range on their griddles. On the other side stood the army representative, Private Washington Carruthers Caviness, lean and gaunt after a long period of training, but surrounded by a group of anxious mess sergeants, who coached their waffle champion on the tactics to be used.

A 4:30 two crisp waffles sailed through the air. The fat marine confidently let his drop to plate, carefully buttered and syruped it, and tucked it out of sight with deliberate motion. The hungry army champion ducked his head to meet the waffle caught it on the fly, and, with a quick, ostrich-like motion of the head, let it slide for home. Thus the contest went on.

Backed by a deliberate chef, who saw that each doughgod was palatable, the marine took waffles easily, telling war stories between bites and loosening his belt after every third cake. The army champ abandoned his early motions, called for butter and syrup after the eighth waffle, and on the twenty-second choked, plaintively muttering a challenge to a bean-eating contest. The army men from the Fort Wood Signal Corps abandoned the field, taking with them their stuffed but defeated champion, and seizing all the waffles they could find.

On behalf of the Marine Corps Institute at Quantico, Captain G. B. Reynolds approached the champion marine with a medal and started to pin it on his breast.

"No, not there, Captain," said the champion. "Lower, where the big bulge is, and careful, careful!"

Boy Held Back Too Much Is Ruined

BY DR. WM. A. McKEEVER
(Professor in the University of Kansas and a Well-Known Educator)

Your child, in his high chair at the table, hungry and impatient of delay, starts to beat up his dish with a spoon or to throw a fork acorss the floor. You stop him and make him "be still."

Later, your small boy grows red in the face and begins to bawl with rage while he attempts with poor success to pull his play wagon out of a rut. You at once quiet his anger and lift the load for him.

Again, your young red-blood starts to use his fists on a burly chap who has got in his way and tried to humiliate him with a blow or some other boyish insult. You hold your boy, pat him on the head and through the use of quieting words reduce him to inaction.

At other times, your young "pride and joy," still impelled by some of the emotional forces which All-Wisdom put into his young nature, attempts to hurdle into an amateur football game, to scale a tall building, to plunge into a turbulent stream or to mount a bucking pony. You see a possible danger in every such instance and find a quiet, pleasing alternative.

Nw your boy is sixteen. And from all appearances he is a model of the demure, gentle-mannered, "fine-looking" youth. He is, let us assume, also easy and poised in the company of girls and in all social circles.

But the course of suppression outlined above has most probably smoothed the rough edges off your boy's growing character too soon. Too early he has forgotten "set his jaw," how to "clench his fists," how to "plunge into the midst of trouble," and, by fighting his way out, how to help right a wrong.

Why make your child gentle and quiescent before he has learned from being daring and boisterous? To me, your gentle mannered, suppressed boy is about as interesting as a rubber stamp, which is a model in pattern and form; but I grow tired of it because it suggests neither change nor variableness.

Rather than a perfect, gentle mannered little-sweet-thing of a twelve-year-old I should far rather see your boy a "perfect little daredevil," all the while getting mixed up and mussed up with those living events which are suited to make juvenile blood grow red with force and aggressiveness. I should rather find your boy thus and you at his side as sympathetic arbiter of his expanding personality.

Parents let us have fewer gentle negative personalities and more of the bold type. It is all in the manner of training.

SELF-PRAISE BEING NO RECOMMENDATION WE DO NOT ASSERT THAT OUR AERATED WATERS ARE THE BEST—WE ARE QUITE CONTENT LETTING OUR CUSTOMERS SAY SO

Although the prices of all materials used in this trade have been greatly increased, our prices remain the same.

We are enabled to do this not at the expense of any of the excellence of our waters, but through our good fortune in making forward contracts at the very high exchange.
